Monthly Commentary

Global Transition returned -4.3% in March, 0.6 pp. higher than the benchmark.

The Iran conflict dominated global markets in March. Emerging markets were most affected regionally, as they were pulled down 11 % for the month. Europe posted a negative 9% return, while US markets were hit less severely with a 3% drawdown. Most sectors delivered negative returns, except for energy, which gained 13% for the month. Growth expectations suffered and rates surged on inflation fears, as the price of Brent crude went from 78 to 118 dollars a barrel.

These developments were reflected in our portfolio, as our largest detractors for the month were generally the portfolio companies with the largest sensitivity towards the trifecta of energy prices, inflation and growth expectations. Voltronic and Kingspan detracted 0.8 and 0.4 pp, respectively. In addition, Tetra Tech detracted 0.5 pp. on a disappointing order intake from the Army Corps of Engineers and Meta suffered on litigation fears. Our top contributors for the month, Badger Meter, CATL, Amazon, Roper and SWON, are all less affected by geopolitics and gained on various idiosyncratic drivers.

Explanation and sources

Carbon Intensity measures a portfolio's exposure to carbon intensive companies. The figure is the sum of security weight multiplied by the security carbon intensity. (MSCI)

Transition plans measures a portfolio's exposure to companies with a plan to reduce GHG emission, as approved by the Science-Based Target initiative. The figure is the sum of the security weight of companies with approved targets. (MSCI)

Business involvement measure a portfolio's exposure to revenue from specific business activities. The figure is the sum of security weight multiplied by the company's revenue share. (MSCI)

International norms measure a portfolio's exposure to companies involved in controversial business practices. The full weight of each flagged company is included in the calculation. (MSCI)

ESG rating measures the ability of underlying holdings to manage key medium to long-term risks and opportunities arising from environmental, social, and governance factors. It is measured on a scale of 0 to 10 (worst to best). The distribution of scores is based on the universe of funds included in MSCI ESG Fund Ratings. (MSCI)

Sustainable Development Goals measures a portfolio's exposure to companies aligned or strongly aligned with the UN sustainable development goals (SDGs). The figure is the sum of the security weight of companies who are aligned or strongly aligned with each of the SDGs, i.e. with a score equal to or higher than 2.0. Goals 16 and 17 have been omitted in this report as they are considered less relevant for listed companies. (MSCI)
